Dear Sir;

Hoo-Ra! And hats off to Mr. Weisberg! I am writing to you about the Kennedy Assassination Investigation which you have been conducting these many years. I have been wanting to write you for a long time. Please excuse and indulge me as I have never before written to a celebrity or written a letter of this type before now. First, a few words about myself:

I am the 38 year-old son of a retired government employee, who grew up in the Wash. D.C. area. I have been in the Videotape Production business, served in the military and am currently taking care of my elderly parents and considering returning to school for a Law Degree (forgive me-it's the " if you can't beat em' join em'" philosophy). In the last year, I've had lots of extra time on my hands and so I have been studying the Assassination which has been an interest of mine for as long as I can remember. I was a child of seven when the event occurred but I remember it surprisingly well. Even then, the whole thing seemed fishy. My father has always reacted strangely to it-I have wondered whether his position in the Government afforded him some special knowledge-though he has never really spoken about it. Our family has always been critical of the Warren report and its supporters. The Single-Bullet Theory has particularly stuck in our accumulated craws.

My research has brought me into contact with your work and Let me say I have a tremendous respect and admiration for you Mr.Weisberg and I am taking the liberty of writing to you based upon the efforts you have made and my respect for you.

I felt that Gerald Posner in his book "Case Closed" made contemptuous remarks toward you and the other researchers. This book makes me so angry and I don't really know why. When he repeatedly calls you and other honorable researchers 'buffs' I believe that casts unnecessary aspersion and I get hot. He suggests your collective motivations for research are money and I cannot accept this to be true. Of course, I don't credit Posner with 'solving' the case, but others seem to, and I don't understand why. He mostly just repeats the damn Warren Report; suggesting that if they reiterate it enough times the people will finally accept it. These affronts to the critics are not new but I have had enough, you have earned the respect of the American People and it is time we stand up for the critics as they are now the mainstream. I Don't know the latest exact figures but it has been about 80% that disbelieve the Warren Report.

I have several reasons for writing. First and foremost is the above-to thank you for your work. Secondly, I wish to support your efforts and to assist mine by acquiring your preeminent books. And thirdly, I would like to ask a few questions and get your opinions. Of course, I imagine you are very busy and I am just a nobody from Virginia, but after purchasing and reading your books, I thought perhaps, if I sent a SASE to you, you could briefly jot down some thoughts. If this cannot be done, I, of course, would understand, but it would be a great honor for me. Also I believe there are certain aspects to this that only you and your unique perspective can answer with authority.

Therefore, I am sending a SASE for info on your books; titles, price, ect. and we can take it from there. Thank you again; for your courage, and tenacity, and for the obvious intelligence which you have brought to the debate.

Yours Truly;

Will R. Carr
